

Free Legal Advice and Assistance

Community Legal Centres Tasmania can provide advice and assistance to those in our community affected by the devastating January bushfires.

We can provide free over the phone or face-to-face assistance and advice on legal and other general matters that you may now be facing.

Should you need assistance with reading and writing, or interpreting, we can help you as well. Please call, and let us know how we can help.

Some matters we can assist you with include:

- Assistance with communicating with banks and lenders to apply for hardship applications for mortgages and loans.
- Assisting with insurance claims.
- Employment issues such as compassionate leave and entitlements.
- Document recovery for items that may have been lost.
- Assistance with what to do if you have an impending court date.
- Assistance requesting emergency payments.
- Referral to other services.
